HEAD OF PSYCHOLOGY

WHAT MADE YOU WANT TO BE A TEACHER?

Although my mum was a primary school teacher it didn't appeal to me until much later. I didn't understand the value of education until I spent time away from it. I started university after 7 years out and from then on teaching was a serious option because I could see the benefits to all and it seemed genuinely rewarding (and it is!)

FAVOURITE SMELL?

It always used to be creosote but now it's Ralph by Ralph Lauren.

WHO WHATSAPP'ED YOU LAST AND WHAT ABOUT?

My friend Donna about going to the Serial Killer Exhibition in Waterloo this weekend!

WHAT PRODUCT COULDN'T YOU LIVE WITHOUT?

Black coffee or KitKats

WHY DID YOU CHOOSE BECKY HIGH?

The genuine enthusiasm of my colleagues and that of the students.

WHAT'S YOUR HIDDEN TALENT?

I used to be able to name all the London postcodes alphabetically but I've promised to stop doing that.. SE2 Abbey Wood, SE3 Blackheath, SE4 Brockley, SE5 Camberwell, SE6 Catford... I can keep going but people have normally glazed over by Charlton. This is not the superpower I asked for.
